

"Because God Said So" (Trinity Sunday – 2022)

Text: John 8:48-59

May the love of God the Father fill you with wonder; may the sacrifice of God the Son fill you with thanksgiving; and may the indwelling of God the Holy Spirit fill you with comfort, faith, and hope – all gifts from our Triune God on this Trinity Sunday, and every day of our lives. Amen.

Fellow Christians: This morning we celebrate an aspect of our God that no one fully understands – his Triune Nature. Though it's easy enough to speak of three-in-one (three Persons and yet one God) once we start to get into the specifics of what that actually means, or the ramifications of what it means that we have a triune God (as we did this morning in our confession) we can find ourselves in very deep waters indeed.

Yet we believe in the Triune nature of our God. Why? Because God said so, in his Word.

Our text for this morning represents just one of those "God said so" proofs of that which we believe, even though we don't fully understand it. In this case, we hear Jesus (God the Son) talking about his unity with God the Father, as well as the eternal nature of his existence. That text is found in the Gospel of John, the 8th Chapter:

ESV (John 8:48-59) The Jews answered him, "Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and have a demon?" 49 Jesus answered, "I do not have a demon, but I honor my Father, and you dishonor me. 50 Yet I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge. 51 Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death." 52 The Jews said to him, "Now we know that you have a demon! Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet you say, 'If anyone keeps my word, he will never taste death.' 53 Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?" 54 Jesus answered, "If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, 'He is our God.' 55 But you have not known him. I know him. If I were to say that I do not know him, I would be a liar like you, but I do know him and I keep his word. 56 Your father Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day. He saw it and was glad." 57 So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?" 58 Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am." 59 So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

So far the Word of our God. What a rare and wonderful privilege to possess these words of timeless truth as our sure and constant guide. That our God would bless our study of these perfect holy words, so we pray, "Sanctify us by your truth, O Lord. Your word is truth." Amen.

Isn't it just a pure joy to simply worship our God, to fall on our knees in humble awe before him and to unreservedly praise, honor and glorify him? This is a good thing. This is fitting, right, and utterly appropriate on absolutely any and every occasion – because he is worthy. So many things in life require careful balance. Not here. Here there need be no hesitancy, no reluctance, no apprehension, no measured restraint. Human beings simply cannot worship our God too much or too well.

Understand, however, that we don't worship our God because we fully grasp everything there is no know about him. In fact we worship him, in part, because we don't. We fully acknowledge that he is infinitely far above us, so much more powerful, wise, and grand than anything we mortals could ever fully comprehend. That's part of what makes God worthy of our worship – the very fact that we don't, and can't, grasp all there is to God.

But just here we see a growing and most troubling trend. There is a rising inclination in our society to reject the very existence of God simply because he cannot be explained scientifically or grasped intellectually. Man asks "How can this be?" and if the answer is not readily available, man dismisses the very concept of God. As man's understanding concerning how things work in God's incredible creation increases, man's tendency is to worship the creation, or man's own limited study or understanding of that creation, rather than the Creator himself. "Trust God" has been replaced by "trust the science."

On the one hand, this is most puzzling. Who wants to worship that which is on a par with himself? Isn't worship supposed to be reserved for that which is greater, grander, and more sublime – in the case of our God, infinitely so? And yet on the other hand this tendency to dismiss and reject the very existence of God is anything but surprising, for this is the very essence of our foolish, fallen nature from the very moment of our conception. It is the delight of Satan, into whose control every single one of us was naturally born. Every human soul was born profoundly foolish and spiritually ignorant – a natural enemy of God. More than even that, we were born with an inordinate love of self. In fact it is relatively easy for man to reject God because man is so enamored with himself. It's only natural then that if God doesn't seem to measure up to our own natural beliefs, instincts, and understanding, then man will invariably dismiss God and opt to believe and honor self.

So it is that when the Bible communicates to us that God is one, and yet three separate and distinct persons, man's natural reaction is, "That's impossible. It makes no rational sense." He then dismisses out of hand what this very God that they are denying has revealed to us about himself. Unable to grasp how such a thing can possibly be true, man naturally concludes that it is not.

This sort of skepticism extends throughout the doctrines of Scripture. The virgin birth makes no "scientific sense" – rejected. The resurrection from the dead conflicts with science – rejected. The miracles, the two natures of Christ, the creation of all things from absolutely nothing by the power or God's Word alone – rejected, rejected, rejected.

This is exactly what Jesus pointed out in the verse that precedes our text, where he said to those Jews that refused to believe what he taught them, "Whoever is of God hears the words of God. The reason why you do not hear them is that you are not of God." ^{ESV}(John 8:47) To "hear" means more than to just comprehend what is being said. It means to believe what is being said. In fact it means to accept something as true even if you do not fully grasp what is being said, and to then direct your life in harmony with your belief. In our text, for example, Jesus used Abraham as an example or object lesson. When God promised Abraham that he and Sarah would have a child in their old age, Abraham had absolutely no idea how such a thing could be possible, yet he believed (he accepted as true) what God had just promised and lived his life in harmony with his faith. This is the sort of "hearing" that Jesus was referring to in verse 47 – not a rational or intellectual comprehension, but a childlike acceptance that if God says it, it must be true.

In fact all of the Christian faith must be "heard" in that way. Take a step back and examine the various doctrines of the Christian faith objectively. What about our faith "makes sense"? That's how we tend to judge things to be true or false in our day-to-day existence, isn't it? Even if it is something that we've never heard before, if it seems to "make sense," we allow ourselves to believe it. If it does not, we tend to reject it as false – unless and until further evidence is presented to convince us. But does it make sense that God would send his own Son to live a perfect life on earth and then, once he had lived that perfect life, to visit the sum total of the punishment for all of the sins of the human race upon that one sinless man? Can anyone be born without a human father? Does it really make sense that someone who has been dead for three days can suddenly be alive again? Does it make sense that individual human beings (those who had sinned and who were therefore deserving of punishment) are required to add or supply nothing whatsoever to what Jesus did before they can be forgiven and saved? How does it make sense that a debt that is owed by every human being except One, is made to be paid by none but that One? Does it make sense that the Word of God, applied to simple water, can create saving faith even in a newborn infant, or that we today receive the very body and blood of One who died 2000 years ago?

And yet as Christians we not only believe such things, we celebrate them. So also on this Trinity Sunday we celebrate what we really have no hope of fully grasping: the triune nature of our God. In our text, Jesus himself speaks subline truth that defies our rational comprehension. The Jews, operating as usual on a strictly rational basis, not only condemned Jesus for what he was saying, they wanted to kill him for it. The statement that tipped them over the edge was this: "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am."

Understand that the Jews heard and processed these words; they just didn't believe them to be true. In other words, they understood that with the "I am," Jesus was claiming to be eternal. Since only God can be eternal, in their judgment Jesus was therefore guilty of blasphemy. What they apparently dismissed out of hand was the other possible explanation: that Jesus was exactly who he said he was – the eternal Son of God and the Fulfillment of Messianic prophecy. This is precisely what Jesus was talking about in verse 47 when he said, "Whoever is of God hears the words of God. The reason why you do not hear them is that you are not of God." It was not that they couldn't understand what he was saying. They just rejected it as false.

This is how our present society treats the true Christian faith. What parts of "Christianity" are today accepted and tolerated? Not the truths that save, but the parts that "make sense" – and only the parts that make sense. Christians are permitted to feed, clothe, and shelter the poor, but we are absolutely condemned for teaching creation, the virgin birth, the resurrection, the divinity of Christ, and the inerrancy of the Bible. We can celebrate women, but we cannot deny any woman the right to choose to murder her unborn child. We can celebrate mothers and fathers, but we cannot teach that it is God alone who defines what it is that makes a father or mother good. We can proclaim "freedom," but we cannot condemn the conduct that God himself condemns. As with the Jews of his own day, we can "believe in" a Jesus that went around doing good, but we cannot proclaim Jesus as the eternal, omnipotent "I am."

Again, do we fully comprehend the Triune God that we worship? Not at all. In fact, we don't worship our God because we know or grasp him fully; we worship him in large part because we cannot. We freely admit that God is so far above us that there is infinitely more that we don't know about him than there is that we do. But you and I are obviously fine with that. That's why we worship him, our Triune God, and him alone.

Yet there is another reason, isn't there? We don't worship our God because we fully understand him; we worship him in large part because he fully understands us – and still did what he did. God knew all along that mankind would opt to kill its own Savior. Knowing that about us, God decided to go forward with his plan anyway. He sent his Son to be killed by us, the very souls he came to save. He knew we would do it, but he also knew that there was no other way for us to avoid spending all eternity in unspeakable agony. He loved us with an impossible love, to the point that he sacrificed his dearest Treasure to spare us the punishment we so obviously deserved. This much we can and do know about our God, and we love him for it.

Consider finally just how amazing this truth really is to you personally. God knows everything about you. He knows your terrible, revolting thoughts. He hears the Godless things that come out of your mouth and he sees the sin that you manage to hide, more or less, from other human beings. He knows your doubts, your faithless fears and anxieties, and your perverse pleasure in the temporal shine and fluff of this world. All this and more he knows about you – knows you better than you know yourself – and still he loves you, still he cares about and for you, still he longs to have you with him for all eternity in heaven. That's also why we worship him, isn't it? The world is filled with doubt and denial because of the demonstrations of his power. You and I are filled with faith and hope because of the demonstrations of his love. The world refuses to worship a God that it cannot fully comprehend. You and I need to introduce them to the God we have come to know based on what he has told us about himself, the God whose greatest attribute is his grace – his undeserved love for sinful, rebellious mankind. Amen.

ESV Proverbs 8:22-31 "The LORD possessed me at the beginning of his work, the first of his acts of old. ²³ Ages ago I was set up, at the first, before the beginning of the earth. ²⁴ When there were no depths I was brought forth, when there were no springs abounding with water. ²⁵ Before the mountains had been shaped, before the hills, I was brought forth, ²⁶ before he had made the earth with its fields, or the first of the dust of the world. ²⁷ When he established the heavens, I was there; when he drew a circle on the face of the deep, ²⁸ when he made firm the skies above, when he established the fountains of the deep, ²⁹ when he assigned to the sea its limit, so that the waters might not transgress his command, when he marked out the foundations of the earth, ³⁰ then I was beside him, like a master workman, and I was daily his delight, rejoicing before him always, ³¹ rejoicing in his inhabited world and delighting in the children of man.

ESV (Acts 2:22-36) "Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man attested to you by God with mighty works and wonders and signs that God did through him in your midst, as you yourselves know-- ²³ this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men. ²⁴ God raised him up, loosing the pangs of death, because it was not possible for him to be held by it. ²⁵ For David says concerning him, "'I saw the Lord always before me, for he is at my right hand that I may not be shaken; ²⁶ therefore my heart was glad, and my tongue rejoiced; my flesh also will dwell in hope. ²⁷ For you will not abandon my soul to Hades, or let your Holy One see corruption. ²⁸ You have made known to me the paths of life; you will make me full of gladness with your presence.'" ²⁹ "Brothers, I may say to you with confidence about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day. ³⁰ Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him that he would set one of his descendants on his throne, ³¹ he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that he was not abandoned to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption. ³² This Jesus God raised up, and of that we all are witnesses. ³³ Being therefore exalted at the right hand of God, and having received from the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this that you yourselves are seeing and hearing. ³⁴ For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says, "'The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand, ³⁵ until I make your enemies your footstool.'" ³⁶ Let all the house of Israel therefore know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified."

ESV (John 8:48-59) The Jews answered him, "Are we not right in saying that you are a Samaritan and have a demon?" ⁴⁹ Jesus answered, "I do not have a demon, but I honor my Father, and you dishonor me. ⁵⁰ Yet I do not seek my own glory; there is One who seeks it, and he is the judge. ⁵¹ Truly, truly, I say to you, if anyone keeps my word, he will never see death." ⁵² The Jews said to him, "Now we know that you have a demon! Abraham died, as did the prophets, yet you say, 'If anyone keeps my word, he will never taste death.'" ⁵³ Are you greater than our father Abraham, who died? And the prophets died! Who do you make yourself out to be?" ⁵⁴ Jesus answered, "If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say, 'He is our God.'" ⁵⁵ But you have not known him. I know him. If I were to say that I do not know him, I would be a liar like you, but I do know him and I keep his word. ⁵⁶ Your father Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day. He saw it and was glad." ⁵⁷ So the Jews said to him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have you seen Abraham?" ⁵⁸ Jesus said to them, "Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I am." ⁵⁹ So they picked up stones to throw at him, but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple.

The Scripture Lessons: (Printed on the back page of this bulletin)

The First Lesson: (Proverbs 8:22-31) On this day we celebrate the triune nature of our God. We begin, therefore, with one of the many proofs found in the Old Testament that teach us that our God is One, but that this one God manifests himself in three Persons. Our first reading establishes both the deity and the eternal nature of Jesus, for we are to hear the words of this Proverb understanding that it is Jesus himself who is speaking. God grant us the grace to believe by faith what we cannot understand with our minds.

The Psalm of the Day – Psalm 45 (Page 32) Read Responsively

The Second Lesson: (Acts 2:22-36) Our second lesson is one of many, many sections also in the New Testament where God is described as triune, though the word "triune" is nowhere to be found in the Bible. God in His Word makes it clear that there are three distinct persons, and yet only one God. "Triune" and "Trinity" are words we have adopted to describe what is clearly taught by God in His Word.

Welcome! - We warmly welcome any visitors worshipping with us this morning and invite you to join us each Sunday at this time. We are glad you are here!
To our Visitors seeking Holy Communion – In obedience to God's Word, we practice "Close Communion." This practice stresses both our concern for others, not wanting anyone to receive the sacrament to their harm (1 Cor. 11:27-30) and the importance of unity in confession and faith (1 Cor. 10:16-17). For this reason we ask that anyone who has not established this unity through membership in a CLC congregation please meet with the pastor to discuss this Scriptural doctrine before communing. This is a practice that we follow out of love and concern for you, and out of obedience to God's Word, not in judgment of anyone's Christian faith.

A Summary of the Athanasian Creed

P: Whosoever will be saved, before all things it is necessary that he hold the Christian faith;

C: Which faith that unless every one keep whole and undefiled, without doubt he will perish forever.

P: And the Christian faith is this: That we worship one God in Trinity, and Trinity in Unity; neither confusing the Persons nor dividing the Substance.

C: For there is one Person of the Father, another of the Son, and another of the Holy Spirit.

P: But the Godhead of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit is all one, the glory equal, the majesty coeternal.

C: Such as the Father is, such is the Son, and such is the Holy Spirit.

P: The Father uncreated, the Son uncreated, and the Holy Spirit uncreated.

C: The Father incomprehensible, the Son incomprehensible, and the Holy Spirit incomprehensible.

P: The Father eternal, the Son eternal, and the Holy Spirit eternal. And yet there are not three Eternals but one Eternal.

C: As also there are not three Uncreated nor three Incomprehensibles, but one Uncreated and one Incomprehensible.

P: So likewise the Father is almighty, the Son almighty, and the Holy Spirit almighty. And yet there are not three Almighty, but one Almighty.

C: So the Father is God, the Son is God, and the Holy Spirit is God; And yet there are not three Gods, but one God.

P: So likewise the Father is Lord, the Son Lord, and the Holy Spirit Lord; And yet there are not three Lords, but one Lord.

C: For as we are compelled by the Christian truth to acknowledge each distinct Person of the Trinity by Himself to be God and Lord; so therefore we are forbidden by the Christian faith to say; there are three Gods or three Lords.

P: The Father is made of none, neither created nor begotten. The Son is of the Father alone; not made nor created, but begotten. The Holy Spirit is of the Father and of the Son; neither made, nor created, nor begotten, but proceeding.

C: So there is one Father, not three Fathers; one Son, not three Sons; one Holy Spirit, not three Holy Spirits.

P: And in this Trinity none is before or after another; none is greater or less than another. But the whole three Persons together are coeternal and coequal; so that in all things, as has been said, the Unity in Trinity and the Trinity in Unity is to be worshiped.

C: He therefore that will be saved must believe these truths about the Trinity.

P: Furthermore it is necessary to everlasting salvation that he also believes rightly the incarnation of our Lord Jesus Christ. For the correct faith is that we believe and confess that our Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is at the same time God and Man.

C: He is God, of the Substance of the Father, begotten before the worlds; and He is Man of the substance of His mother, born in the world.

P: He is perfect God, and perfect Man, having both a rational soul and human flesh.

C: He is equal to the Father as in His Godhead, and inferior to the Father as in His humanity. Who, although He is God and Man, yet He is not two, but one Christ.

P: One, not by conversion of the Godhead into flesh, but by taking of that manhood into God.

C: One altogether, not by confusion of Substance, but by unity of Person.

P: For as the reasonable soul and flesh is one man, so God and Man is one Christ;

ALL: Who suffered for our salvation, descended into hell, rose again the third day from the dead; He ascended into heaven, He is seated on the right hand of the Father, God Almighty; from whence He will come to judge the living and the dead. At Whose coming all people shall rise again with their bodies; and shall give account of all their thoughts, words, and actions.

P: Those who believe in Jesus Christ, according to God's Word, will go into life everlasting, and those who do not believe will go into everlasting fire.

ALL: This is the Christian faith, which except one believes, he cannot be saved. Lord, grant this true Christian faith unto us all. Amen.
